Mission of the Jewish Book Council

To promote the reading, writing, publishing, and distribution of quality books of Jewish content in English.

To serve as the national resource center for information about the American Jewish literary scene.

To serve as the coordinating body of Jewish literary activity in North America in both general and Jewish venues.

To serve as the North American representative of Jewish literature on the international scene.

National Jewish Book Awards

The National Jewish Book Awards have been presented annually since 1948 to authors of books of exceptional literary achievement in a variety of Judaic subjects. The awards are designed to heighten awareness of outstanding books of Jewish interest published in the last year and

- to encourage the reading of meritorious books
- to recognize authors of outstanding Jewish literature
- to stimulate others to further literary creativity
- to acknowledge original contributions to scholarship

These awards acknowledge the seminal importance of a particular work. There is a monetary award for each winning author. A public presentation will recognize the superior efforts made by the author and publisher in preparation of the winning piece of literature. In addition, there is publicity for the event and the individual awardees. Presentations will be made at a gala dinner and ceremony in early March 2019 in New York City.

Guidelines

Eligibility Rules

1. Books, either hardcover or original paperback, published between January 1, 2018–December 31, 2018 or have a copyright of the year under consideration are eligible. They may be submitted as finished copies, galleys or bound manuscripts, but, in the case of galleys or bound manuscripts, must be replaced by finished copies at time of publication. Submission may be by author or publisher.
2. If a book is published in November or December of 2017, and only if no galleys were available at that time, the book may be submitted for the 2018 program.
3. Complete series will not be accepted. The entire series need not be submitted. Each title in the series must be submitted as an individual entry in the year of publication.
4. A previously submitted title, new translations, and reissues may not be submitted, unless it has been substantially reworked and has a new copyright date.
5. The book must be available in English and distributed in North America.
6. Translations are eligible and must be submitted in the copyright year of the English translation. The prize will be split between the author and translator.
7. Books available in e-book format only are accepted, however the selection must be submitted in hard copy for judging purposes. This may be in bound galley format.
8. For purposes of the National Jewish Book Awards, a Jewish book is one that deals with aspects of Judaism and Jewish life in the category(ies) delineated. A book cannot be considered for an awards category merely because its author is Jewish. A book written by a non-Jewish author is eligible if it has Jewish content.
9. Collections of previously published short stories, essays, or articles by a single author that are gathered into one compendium are eligible.
10. The entry form and guidelines for the Mentorship Award in honor of Carolyn Starman Hessel can be found at www.jewishbookcouncil.org/mentorshipaward. Nominations should be made through the form found on that page.
11. Only works by authors who are living at the commencement of the eligible calendar year (January 1, 2018) may be submitted to the National Jewish Book Award competition; however, if the title is submitted to the Holocaust category, the book is still eligible even if the main author is deceased provided the following conditions apply: there is new material (e.g., introduction) written by a living author and that this is the first English translation of the title. The book must also hold a copyright of 2018 to be eligible.
12. In the event the judges cannot come to a decision, an independent judge, designated by the President of the Jewish Book Council, will determine the winner.

Guidelines

Entry Rules

1. ENTRY FORMS. Entry forms and seven copies (per category)* of each book nominated must be sent to the address below. Additionally, high resolution photos of each author and book cover must be emailed to njba@jewishbooks.org.

attn: AWARDS

*For submissions to the fiction, book club, and debut fiction categories, 12 copies of the book must be submitted.

Submitted books will not be returned. If the book is deemed ineligible, books and payment will not be returned.

2. ENTRIES. All books (or galleys) must be received by October 5, 2018 with a completed entry form. Only if a book has an October 2018 copyright, the deadline to receive it can be extended to October 31, 2018. Any books published in October 2018 will not be eligible for the 2019 National Jewish Book Awards. No submission will be accepted without an entry form. There is a $140 handling fee for each title submitted, and payment must accompany the entry form. If, for some reason, the fee is not available at the time of submission, the application must indicate "Payment to follow" on the entry form. Payment must be received by October 31, 2018 or the title will become ineligible. If a selection wins, an additional five (5) copies, signed by the author, are required and will be requested by the Jewish Book Council.

*For submissions to the fiction, book club, and debut fiction categories, 12 copies of the book must be submitted.

3. FORMAT. All books, including e-books, must be submitted in print format.

4. SELF-PUBLISHED BOOKS. Self-published books may be submitted.

5. CATEGORIES. Attention to category definition is essential. Please see accompanying definitions to identify the appropriate category. On the entry form, the editor of the book should specify one category as most appropriate. A book may be submitted to more than one category: for EACH additional category, $60 and seven (7) more copies of the book must be sent. If the judges receive the submission and feel it would fit more appropriately in a different category, they may request that the title be switched. Should the publisher and/or author agree, an additional seven (7) copies will be requested at no additional fee. Please note that a book is only eligible to win one category, regardless of the number of categories it is submitted to.

*For submissions to the fiction, book club, and debut fiction categories, 12 copies of the book must be submitted. To submit to the Mentorship Award in honor of Carolyn Starman Hessel, please visit www.jewishbooks.com/awards/mentorship-award.

6. OCCASIONAL AWARDS. Books in these categories will be judged over a span of up to three years. Books must be submitted in their year of publication and will be retained by the designated panel for future evaluation.

7. EVERETT FAMILY FOUNDATION JEWISH BOOK OF THE YEAR AWARD. All non-fiction books submitted are automatically eligible for the Everett Family Foundation Jewish Book of the Year Award, which is determined by a select committee.

8. SPECIAL RECOGNITION AWARD. This category has been created to provide the Jewish Book Council with the flexibility to recognize selection(s) of outstanding merit. A select panel, headed by the Chair of the National Jewish Book Awards, will make this determination. In this case, additional copies of a book may be requested (with no additional fee required) by the panel.

9. AUTHORS. Authors must be made aware of, and consent to, the entry of his/her book for the National Jewish Book Awards. We will be contacting the winners directly, so an author email address and phone number are required.

10. WINNERS. For winning books, Jewish Book Council will notify the author directly. The individual whose name appears on the submission form will be advised of the judges' decision of both the winners and finalists, and should contact the finalists directly, in January 2019. The publisher is encouraged to promote the finalists and winning titles through all appropriate media. If the author of the work is not living, the award is given to the estate of the author.

11. PUBLISHERS/AUTHORS. The submitting party (or a designated representative) of a winning book is responsible for arranging the winning author's attendance at the Awards ceremony to be held in early March 2019. Each winning publisher (or author if the submission was made by the author) must agree to contribute $450 to help defray the cost of the ceremony. This payment entitles the publisher to electronic copies of the National Jewish Book Award seals, which may be printed on the winning book, and two tickets, for the author and a guest, to the gala dinner and ceremony. If there is a co-author or illustrator, that person becomes the guest of the author. Additional tickets to the dinner may be purchased.
